

Accessibility Data Hub

Released at 8:30 a.m. Eastern time in The Daily, Wednesday, June 2, 2021

The Accessibility Data Hub is now available for all users. The hub is a centralized location presenting data on topics related to accessibility and disability through data tables, articles, infographics and an interactive data visualization tool. In line with the Accessible Canada Act, the hub includes data on key areas such as built environment, design and delivery of programs and services, employment, information and communication technology, and transportation. In addition, the hub allow users to find external governmental data sources as well as information about laws related to accessibility.

Statistics Canada will update the hub regularly as accessibility- and disability-related content and data become available.
