

Estimates of interjurisdictional employment in Canada by province and territory, 2002 to 2019

Released at 8:30 a.m. Eastern time in The Daily, Monday, February 6, 2023

Updated estimates on interjurisdictional employees in Canada for each jurisdiction, total counts and T4 earnings disaggregated by North American Industry Classification System, age and sex are available through the Common Output Data Repository (Tables 14-10-0433-01, 14-10-0434-01, 14-10-0435-01 and 14-10-0436-01).

Interjurisdictional employees are identified as individuals who maintain their permanent residence in one province or territory but have paid employment in another.

Interjurisdictional employment may represent a significant source of income for home provinces or territories of interjurisdictional employees and a significant source of labour for the provinces or territories in which they work.
