With today's release of the Infrastructure Economic Account, estimates for investment, stock, average age and remaining useful service life, as well as economic and environmental impacts have been released for 2025. Investment, average age and the remaining useful life ratio has been updated for 2024 with the latest data from the Capital and Repair Expenditures Survey. The economic and environmental impact data for 2022 to 2024 have also been updated following the integration of new multipliers based on the 2022 supply and use tables. All the estimates released today are consistent with the release of the Income and Expenditure Accounts for the fourth quarter of 2025.

Note to readers

The estimates for Canadian greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions attributable to infrastructure investment in Canada include direct and indirect GHG emissions from the Canadian supply chain. These estimates are a subset of the Physical Flow Accounts compiled by Statistics Canada in accordance with the United Nations' System of Environmental-Economic Accounting. The physical flow accounts differ from those published by Environment and Climate Change Canada in Canada's official national GHG inventory. A description of the differences between the two sources can be found on the Canadian Centre for Energy Information website.
