EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

In May 2000 the Survey of Labour and Income Dynamics (SLID) collected data on income from both its second and third panels.

Respondents had the option of answering income questions in an interview, or of giving permission to Statistics Canada to allow SLID to use the information on their income tax return.

This paper describes the collection method and content of the 2000 Income interview.

1. INTRODUCTION

In May 2000 the Survey of Labour and Income Dynamics collected data on income for the seventh consecutive year.

Respondents had the option of answering the questions on income in an interview, or giving permission to Statistics Canada to allow SLID to use the information from their income tax return.

The 2000 Income interview was conducted only for persons aged 16 years or over on January 1, 2000. Cohabitants (new members) identified in the January interview were questioned about their 1999 income (if they were 16 or over). New cohabitants were not identified during the May 2000 interview. They will be identified in the January 2001 Labour interview and questioned in May 2001 about their 2000 income.

This research paper presents the content of the Income interview<sup>1</sup> including question wording, possible responses and flows of questions.

2. WHAT'S NEW?

New questions: IN_Q150, IN_Q155, IN_Q160, IN_Q165, IN_Q170, IN_Q175, IN_Q180, IN_Q185, IN_Q190, IN_Q195 and CAI_SO

IN_Q150 to IN_Q195 were added for the first time to collect data on employer pension plan contributions and professional dues/malpractice insurance premiums and union dues. These expenditure amounts will be used to calculate narrower definitions of disposable income than the traditional after-tax income, as well as being useful in and of themselves. Several lead questions were necessary to take into account possible overlap in content with the Labour interview for certain respondents. Only IN_Q160, IN_Q175 and IN_Q190 will lead directly to new variables.

CAI_SO: This is a requirement of the application to update and save the entered data.

Modified questions: (Old question numbers are in brackets.)

Many of the income source questions have undergone wording changes, but the only conceptual or definitional changes were those indicated below for IN_Q105, IN_Q110 and IN_Q115 (all pertaining to private retirement income).

All references to box numbers, etc. on various slips have been removed. They have been replaced with references to the federal tax return or the Quebec return. Where necessary, further instructions were added (e.g., "Line 129 if pension and not withdrawal").

IN_Q100 (inc-q3-17)

"Refuse" and "Don't know" are now entered separately and category 07 is now "Other (specify)".

IN_Q105 (in_q3-18)

Now includes RRIF payments and annuities. These were previously included in IN_Q110 ("RRIF withdrawals"), although some of them may have been reported here.

IN_Q110 (inc_q3-19)

No longer includes RRIF payments and annuities; these are now included in IN_Q105. The specification "if pension and not withdrawal" has been added to better distinguish this item from IN_Q115, which has the same tax line number.

IN_Q115 (inc_q3-20)

The specification "if withdrawal and not pension" has been added to better distinguish this item from IN_Q110, which has the same tax line number. (The distinction is important for processing.)

IN_Q125, IN_Q130, IN_Q135 (inc_3-23, inc_3-24, inc_3-25)

"Refuse" and "Don't know" are now entered separately and category 12 is now "Other (specify)".

Deleted questions*INC_Q2B

This question was deleted as it was used to thank panel 1 respondents in their final year of participating in the survey if they gave SLID permission to use their tax records.

INC-3-22

The income source "money from persons outside this household to help with living expenses" was deleted. It had been added in reference year 1993. However, this money is already counted as income by the person making this transfer. Furthermore, this type of transfer is not part of the definition of income.

Income tax

The collection of "income tax for [reference year]" was not useful as the federal and provincial portions were not reported separately and it may have been confused with the amount still owing at the end of the year. SLID calculates income tax using reported income and this calculation has been shown to be better than reported values.

Naming conventions

Naming conventions were standardized based on recommendations from the standards group at Statistics Canada

Questions with C = (eg. IN_C001) = internal check

N = (eg. PRXY_N1) = interviewer instructions

E = (eg. IN_E015) = edit question, read out loud to respondent

Renumbering of questions

As in the Labour questionnaire, all questions have now been renumbered in increments of 5 which will allow for new questions in the future.

3. HOW TO READ THIS DOCUMENT

Question numbers

For each section, the question numbers refer to the actual numbers used in the programmed application and appear on the interviewer's computer screen. Text in bold letters is read, as worded, by the interviewer. The questions with "INTERVIEWER:" at the beginning are questions to be answered directly by the interviewer without asking the respondent.

Pre-fill items

These are items specific to each respondent's interview. The software adds the relevant information into the question, making the interviewer's job easier.

[respondent] - This is the first and last name of the person to whom the question refers and is not necessarily the person who is talking to the interviewer.

4. INCOME INTERVIEW

The data were collected by decentralized computer-assisted interviewing (CAI) mainly by telephone from interviewers' homes. The households surveyed received a newsletter in April that included a regional director's letter and a reminder that respondents had the choice of an interview or of giving permission to access their tax records. Several pages in the newsletter provided information on the income sources for which data would be collected as well as instructions on how to report the amounts if respondents decided to be interviewed. Since it is easier to answer the questions on income by referring to the income tax return, the text showed the 1999 tax form line numbers. For those who wished to prepare for the interview in advance, there was space for three household members to jot down their income figures.

During the collection period (May 2000), interviewers contacted the households eligible for the Income survey. Some of the households had a mixture of respondents who had previously given or refused permission or did not file a tax return. Income information was not collected for the members who had given permission previously or who did so during the May 2000 contact. Some households have agreed to do Labour but refused to do an Income interview; these households are not in the May sample. If possible, the information for all eligible members was collected during the same telephone conversation. If a member of the household wished to answer for himself, the interviewer could collect the information separately or make an appointment to call back. If respondents gave permission for Statistics Canada to access their tax returns, the interview ended for that person.

To reduce respondent burden, the household was not contacted if the only member who had not given permission was a member aged 16 or 17. Results from previous years showed most of this age group had no income. They will be asked the tax permission question the following January.

For respondents who were interviewed, edits were programmed using the information collected in the January Labour survey to remind respondents that they had reported being employed or receiving employment insurance, social assistance or workers' compensation.

6. EDITS

Soft edits (other than the edits appearing in the questions above) were used during data collection.

Amount check

This edit was used during data collection to check the income source amounts entered by the interviewer.

When the amounts entered in the computer are outside the predetermined range, one of two error messages pop up: "Amount seems too high" or "Amount seems too low".

These messages appear when the amounts entered are outside the soft ranges shown in the questions above, which is determined using data collected in last year's SLID income interview. These ranges exclude approximately 5% of amounts below or above the selected limits.

The interviewer has the option to either <Suppress' to confirm the value or <Close' or <Go to' to enter a new value.
